

PRESENTERS: DR. TIM ASMIS AND DR. CELIA MARGINEAN

Pancreatic Neuroendocrine Tumours

Wednesday September 2, 2015 noon- 1:00 pm EST

Not applicable: N/A	Completely disagree: 1	Disagree: 2	Neutral: 3	Agree: 4	Completely agree: 5
---------------------	------------------------	-------------	------------	----------	---------------------

Learning Objectives

To compare cells of origin and general organization of NE system	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
To understand the classification of Pancreatic NET	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
To evaluate the role of prognostic markers	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
To describe the epidemiology of Pancreatic NET tumours	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
Interpret new developments in treatment options for patients with Pancreatic NET tumours	N/A	1	2	3	4	5

The Program

The content of the program was relevant and will be useful in my practice.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
There was adequate time allowed.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
The session offered enough interaction between speaker(s), moderator and participants.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
The program was impartial and balanced, with no bias.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
Participants' needs and expectations were met.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5

The Speaker: Dr. Celia Marginean

The speaker presented information clearly, was organized and well-prepared.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
The speaker responded well to questions.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
The speaker provided an expert opinion as well as valuable clinical information.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5

The Speaker: Dr. Tim Asmis

The speaker presented information clearly, was organized and well-prepared.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
The speaker responded well to questions.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5
The speaker provided an expert opinion as well as valuable clinical information.	N/A	1	2	3	4	5

What are the strengths and weaknesses of this session? Do you have suggestions for future topics and speakers?

Thank you for your time and participation.